SATURDAY, MAY 15, 2021

Your safety is of the utmost importance to us. Staff will wear face masks at all times, and common surfaces will be sanitized throughout the day. Guests will also be required to wear face masks. Due to limited capacity, registration is required at www.MadisonAvenueBID.org/gallerywalk

1 Acquavella Galleries

18 East 79 St (Mad-5th)
10am-5pm, talk at 11am

On the first floor, we will be showing "Eva Hesse / Hannah Wilke: Erotic Abstraction," the first exhibition to present these two pioneering artists side by side. Curated by Eleanor Nairne of the Barbican Art Gallery, the show features foundational works in the history of post-Minimalist and feminist art. Upstairs, we are presenting new works on canvas by American Israeli artist Jacob El Hanani, a tribute to the artist's mastery of abstraction through his painstaking pen-and-ink drawings.

2 Alexander Berggruen

1018 Madison Ave, 3FI (78-79)
11am-6pm, talk at 3pm

Our current group show "Shapes" investigates geometric abstraction among a broad array of artists. The works included in the exhibition explore the vast possible interpretations of boundless iterations of form. Shapes can operate unhindered by their relation to the space around them. Or shapes can appear as relational fragments, sometimes recalling distinct objects and locations.

3 Arader Gallery

1016 Madison Ave (78-79)
10am-6pm

In dialogue with the Met's Bodmer show, we have gathered together several dozen examples of Bodmer's illustrations as well as those of George Catlin. Both artists explored the American West in the nineteenth century, and depicted Native Americans and the flora and fauna they saw in ways that electrified the European imagination. Set against plates from Audubon's Birds of America, Bodmer's and Catlin's visions of America's vast strangeness conjure an America that has been disappearing ever since.

4 Arlene Angard Designs & Fine Art

3 East 66 St, Ste 2A (Mad-5th)
11am-5pm, talks at 1, 2 & 3pm

In my small garden Exhibit by Nathaniel Galka Nature, beauty, and empathy in this world is where Nathaniel finds complete happiness. He has an exquisite love affair with nature. He relates greatly to the "Aesthetic Movement" started in the mid 1800's in England.

5 Baahng Gallery Inc.

790 Madison Ave (66-67)
11am-6pm

6 Ceysson & Bénétière

956 Madison Ave, 2FI (75-76)
11am-6pm

The exhibition on view will be a retrospective of Supports/Surfaces artist André Valensi. For Valensi, making advanced art meant repudiating its decorative use, as well as any illustrative function it might serve for religious, philosophical, or moral purpose. Hence an unconditional commitment to abstraction. The works invite the viewer to stop using the eye for mere seeing in order to experience the separation of the mundane from the spiritual.

7 Debra Force Fine Art

13 East 69 St, Ste 4F (Mad-5th)
11am-5pm

11am-6pm, talks at 2 & 4pm
Karen Miranda Rivadeneira's new series MEDA – photographs, silkscreens, and paintings – is the result of her investigation on the primordial relationship between humans and the earth. Against the background of New Mexico and her ancestral land in Ecuador, Rivadeneira captures naked bodies of women with their skins in close contact with rocks, grottos, dry hills, and ancient trees. In these scenes, darkness, and light, heat and cool, tenderness and roughness, permanence and transience intersect magically.

28 Petzel Gallery

35 East 67 St (Mad-Pk)
10am-6pm
Petzel's debut exhibition of German conceptual artist Hanne Darboven showcases the influential work Europa 97, a collection of 384 individual pages in which the artist allocated her daily calculations for the entire year of 1997 according to a system of cross-arithmetic calculations. Also on view, on the third floor of the Upper East Side gallery, is a group showing of work by Hanne Darboven, Wade Guyton, Allan McCollum, Stephen Prina, and Samson Young.

29 Robilant+Voena

980 Madison Ave, Ste 303 (76-77)
11am-6pm, talks at 11am & 3pm
Robilant+Voena presents Two Artists, Two Actresses, pairing portraits of two women whose powerful performances captured the popular imagination of their times. Although painted 400 years apart, Francesco Clemente's Scarlett Johansson (2008) joins in conversation with Giulio Cesare Procaccini's seventeenth-century portrait of the actress Orsola Cecchini. Also on view are a selection of old and modern masterworks depicting empowered women whose allure and grace endure across time.
